

SURRY HILLS MARKETS

Another year has passed for the Surry Hill Markets. It has been a challenging year with the demand for stalls and the re-evaluation of the policies and procedures. Surry Hills continues to change and it has become a popular destination for Sydney shoppers. The Surry Hills Markets has been recognized as a favourite shopping spot in various magazines throughout the year.

The Surry Hills Markets has initiated a new booking system to address the problem of demand. Hopefully, this will alleviate the issues around lining up in the early hours of Market day. This new booking system will be reviewed in April 2006.

A policies and procedures document is being formulated to outline the processes for the market along with detailed descriptions of duties for both the Co-ordinator and the Assistant Co-ordinator.

The role of the Assistant Co-ordinator has been successful in alleviating the pressure on the Co-ordinator and the roles work well together. Thanks Jacqueline.

Thanks to the City of Sydney for their on-going support of the Markets.

Thanks to stallholders, patrons and local residents for their continued support.

Hope to see you there sometime.

Leeanne Lightfoot
Market Co-ordinator
